

Moscow, Aug. 26, 1986

0²⁵ a.m.

Dear Joel!

Natasha, Steve and I just made a breakthrough in citizen diplomacy: Vidimagie will make it possible to collect a dozen of our diplomats to share with a considerable amount of people and ~~to take part~~ ^{to take part} in slow-scan or photophone talks...

I invited Steve to test slow-scan channel while you are in Moscow, from Florida.

Pls, send Xeroxed photos to Ira Shapiro. He wants to use them to convince people in N.Y. to take part in our projects.

Sasha's kid advised to take 2T-size clothes for autumn and winter, and also some plastic bottles you brought once. If a pair of blue jeans 36"x36" and some samples of electronics will be added, it will be great.

Today I've sent f-lx to you, and Steve will tell you more news about my work here. You've chosen the best time to arrive here. You'll find Alferenco in Moscow and we expect you to be interviewed for our TV, so get some real cloth for yourself.

Also ask your friends from S-Fr. Teleport to get ready to talk via slow-scan to us while you are here - and to be shot by my film-crew...

Everybody here are on duty and we'll see you soon.

my love to Dant.

Joey

P.S. Please, remember to Rick Ingrasci about our three-year-old attempt to make
"The day after" experiment.

Now we have a film shot by our friend from Leningrad, and we are ready to make this experiment as real.

Come ASAP